

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An adjustment device for two subassemblies standing in rotary drive connection is presented, especially for the adjustment of a camshaft to the drive wheel that drives it, wherein a control gear is arranged between the two that is drivable via a direct current commutator motor for adjustment.